

How to research Stocks on the Internet

Presented by
BlackStar Research

Once the Domain of Large Stock Brokerages

The Internet has made it possible for anyone to do their own stock research

You the average investor can do stock research over the internet comfort of your own home – while still in your pajamas!

But Before we get started

A quick primer on the US stock market

The stock market consists of the buying and selling of company securities through a loose confederation of stock exchanges and the over-the-counter market, and is regulated by the Securities and Exchange commission, the Secretaries of State, the States Attorney Generals and the Court Systems.

Stock Exchanges

Are formal organizations approved and regulated by the Security and Exchange commission that are made up of members who use the facilities to buy and sell securities.

New York Stock Exchange

Is the nations oldest stock exchange and was founded in 1792. The NYSE is a self-regulatory organization that oversees its member and insures that they abide by its rules. The NYSE has stringent requirements that companies must meet before their shares can be traded there: they must have two thousand share holders or more, average monthly trading volume of 100,000 shares and a stock market value of $100 million or more.

American Stock Exchange

A national securities exchange, is located at 86 Trinity Place in New York City. The AMEX is also known as “the curb”, because they traded at the curb in front of the New York Stock Exchange. Most of the companies listing their stocks on the AMEX are smaller and newer and thus more speculative than those listed on the NYSE.

The Over-the-Counter Market

A market made up of dealers, most often brokerage firms, who buy and sell securities from each other by computer or telephone. The OTC market is not an exchange and has no physical address. Stocks traded over-the-counter are more speculative than stocks listed on the exchanges because the companies are smaller and newer. Most OTC stocks have symbols of four or more letters.

The biggest players are NASDAQ and OTC Markets

National Association of Security Dealers Automated Quotation System

“NASDAQ”

A computer system maintained by the National Association of Security Dealers in Washington DC that gives brokers, traders, and market makers price quotations for over-the-counter as well as listed securities.

OTC Markets “Pink Sheets”

An electronic and print quotation service for OTC securities that do not meet NASDAQ listing requirements. The name comes from the color of the paper they are printed on.

The logo for OTC Markets is displayed on a dark grey rectangular background. The text "OTC Markets" is written in a white, sans-serif font. The "O" and "T" are in a standard weight, while the "C" is significantly larger and features a horizontal rainbow-colored bar passing through its center. The word "Markets" follows in a smaller, regular weight font.

OTC Markets

Other Exchanges

Chicago Board Options Exchange also know as CBOE
Chicago Stock Exchange
Commodity Exchange,
Futures Exchange
Foreign Currency Exchanges (FOREX)

The Securities and Exchange Commission

Is a federal government agency established by the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 to protect investors and maintain the integrity of securities markets by enforcing the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 as well as later regulation. Its five commissioners are appointed by the president of the United States. The SEC monitors securities, stock exchanges, broker-dealers, investment advisors, mutual funds, and public utility holding companies.

The Secretaries of State

Where companies must file incorporation papers and maintain business licenses.

The States Attorney's Generals

Where enforcement actions are taken against companies for bad business practices.

The Court System

Where claims are filed for and against companies.

So Lets Begin.....

Let's say you have just been given hot tip by a close friend.

Buy NVLX!

“This stock is guaranteed to make you rich!!!”

Our first Question is What is a NVLX?

- The first thing most people will do is go straight to Google and waste time and energy wading through mountains of information until they find what they think they are looking for.
- But we're going to save time and go to one of the stock exchanges. In this case we will start at the bottom and go with the OTC Market.

About Nuvilex

Goldman: Nuvilex Game Changer & Major Price Increase
Click Here For Article

We at Nuvilex believe and uphold our motto, "Good for You, Good for the Environment."

Our Origins.....

Founded in 1996, as a Nevada Corporation, DJH International, Inc., the Company was renamed eFoodSafety.com, Inc. following acquisition of Global Procurement Systems, Inc. in 2000. Ozone Safe Food, Inc. was acquired in 2003 and set an early mission to provide methods and products for sterilization with worldwide software tracking of safely marketed fruits and vegetables.

In 2004, eFoodSafety.com began trading on the OTC Bulletin Board (OTCBB) under the symbol EFSF. Within a year, Knock-Out Technologies, Ltd. (KOT) and MedElite, Inc were acquired. Through use of organic, non-toxic, food-based ingredients, KOT developed products designed for the treatment of nutritional deficiencies, diseases, and environmental purposes, including Nuvilex's flagship products Cinnergen and Cinnechol, and the developmental products Citroxin and Oraphyte. MedElite, on the other hand, owned Talsyn™-Cl/bid Scar Cream, a product used for treatment of keloids, erythema, and scar management, and NumaDerm™ cosmetics, now being reintroduced from the Nuvilex developmental drawer and available shortly.

Talsyn, a cream for scars, is a synergistic blend of fatty acids, peptides, and complimentary botanical extracts. Talsyn has a pleasant aroma and unlike many other skin creams—will not damage or stain fabrics.

Infinitink™

Virgin tattoo inks

Infinitink® – is a high quality tattoo ink that is engineered to be permanent and safe and is far easier to remove from the skin than traditional tattoo inks. Infinitink is applied to the skin in the same way as any other tattoo. It also stays in the skin for as long as you wish. If, however, you choose to have your Infinitink tattoo removed, it will come out of the skin in fewer treatments than tattoos made with traditional inks.

Management Team

Dr. Robert F. Ryan, President and CEO:

Dr. Robert F. Ryan was named President and Chief Executive Officer. Dr. Ryan has broad scientific experience in biochemistry, cell and molecular biology, human genetics, novel therapies, and basic and clinical cancer research, having received his Masters in Biochemistry, Cell and Molecular Biology at The Medical College of Georgia, studying sickle cell anemia. He received his Ph.D. in Molecular Genetics at Thomas Jefferson University characterizing DNA and RNA binding properties of zinc finger proteins. Through his extensive training, his experiences extend across the fields of aging, hemoglobinopathies, gene expression, human diseases, DNA, RNA, proteins and their interactions, stem cell research and applications, oncology, clinical protocols and therapies.

He has participated in basic and clinical investigations and has published and edited research articles in several peer-reviewed journals.

Dr. Gerald W. Crabtree, COO:

Dr. Crabtree was recently named the Chief Operating Officer. Even in such a short period as a few weeks, he has provided a significant benefit and impact for Nuvilex, clearly matching not only the commitment to repositioning Nuvilex into the biotechnology area, but also adds to the strength of our existing products and pipeline. I have worked with Dr. Crabtree and look forward to working with him to move Nuvilex forward. He has extensive experience in the areas of natural and synthetic drug and device research and development, having worked in both academia and small and large company environments. His business and financial acumen together with his research and development background combine to make him an invaluable addition to Nuvilex.

Since 1985, Dr. Crabtree has been involved with various biopharmaceutical companies where he has alternatively supervised and coordinated the development of multiple drug candidates, prepared clinical protocols, investigator brochures, monographs, research and review articles, and served as project manager for development of major oncologic agents. He is a Member of the American Society of Clinical Oncology and also is a past member of research grant review committees for the National Institute of Health and the American Cancer Society. Dr. Crabtree established and directed, from inception, a department that monitored and coordinated the development of oncologic and immunologic drugs from initial discovery through regulatory approval in a major pharmaceutical company and served as project manager for the development of the anticancer agent, Taxol.

Dr. Crabtree received his Ph.D. in Biochemistry from the University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada and has published over 80 articles in peer-reviewed journals. He is a National Cancer Institute of Canada Research Fellow. In addition, he served as Department Head of Molecular Pharmacology for the Nucleic Acid Research Institute and prior to that as Associate Professor of Medicine with the Roger Williams Cancer Center at Brown University. He has also served as Director of Project Planning and Management (Oncology/Immunology) at Bristol-Myers Squibb and as Vice-President of Research and Development at ETEX Corporation. Most recently, Dr. Crabtree served as Interim CEO of PhytoCeutica, Inc., where he assisted in preparation and review of FDA documents, clinical study protocols, investment acquisitions.

Patricia Gruden, Chairman of the Board of Directors and CFO:

Ms. Patricia Gruden has made a substantial impact in many companies over the years. It was in 1995 that she became cofounder of the company that has since become Nuvilex. The original company was initiated to develop a software program through accurately tracking produce from the field to the table, including the challenges of shipping, temperature variation and maintenance, and everything else concerning the distribution of produce worldwide. In addition, the company developed an ozone cleaning system to kill bacteria on produce without leaving harmful residue on the product and without harming the environment. The company and its footprint expanded, eventually giving rise to the start of the publicly traded Nuvilex, Inc. Company's roots in 2001.

Ms. Gruden has carried out almost every job in the company over the years including developer, shipper, President, CEO, Chairman of the Board, CFO and many others. As a result, she has been intricately aware of all aspects of the company and its products throughout its history. After a short semi-retirement in 2009-10, she returned with renewed vigor and has since put in extensive effort and funding into returning the business to its former capabilities. Although her history and training has been focused in management and sales, she clearly has made substantial advances for Nuvilex.

Her training has not only included the real world experiences of running more than one company, but was well founded in her attainment of her B.S. degree in Business at the University of Oklahoma. From there, things have never been the same, propelling her to embrace every business opportunity with excitement, clarity and focus. Through the years, Patricia has had a long history of owning her own businesses, and doing so successfully, with her strengths in working with people, marketing and management. As part of her contribution and success at Nuvilex, she is President of some of the subsidiaries including Cinnergen, Inc. where she ensures organization, marketing, cash flow, and good management. Currently, Ms. Patricia Gruden is the Chairman of the Board of Directors and CFO for Nuvilex, guaranteeing a good dose of knowledge and success for the company through efficient and thoughtful oversight of the entire company and good fiscal management of our assets.

The SEC is a rich source of information about companies , especially if you pay particular attention to these reports:

Current Report (8K)

Form 8-K provides investors with current information to enable them to make informed decisions. The types of information required to be disclosed on Form 8-K are generally considered to be “material.” That means that, in general, there is a substantial likelihood that a reasonable investor would consider the information important in making an investment decision. Companies typically provide a number of 8-Ks throughout the year, whenever significant corporate events take place that trigger a disclosure. Companies must file 8-Ks promptly, rather than waiting until their next periodic report, such as the quarterly report (on Form 10-Q) or annual report (on Form 10-K). Companies are required to make most 8-K disclosures within four business days of the triggering event and in some cases even earlier.

Quarterly Reports (10Q)

Each quarter, public companies file reports to the SEC containing unaudited financial statements and information about the company's operations in the previous three months.

Annual Reports (10K)

An investor can find a wealth of information in a company's Form 10-K. Filed annually, the 10-K offers a detailed picture of what the company does, and the risks it faces. It also includes the company's financial report.

SEC Form 425'

The prospectus form that companies must file to disclose information regarding business combination transactions. A business combination can refer to a statutory merger between two or more companies or a statutory consolidation. Companies are required to file prospectus form 425 in accordance with rules 425 and 165 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1933

Google Maps

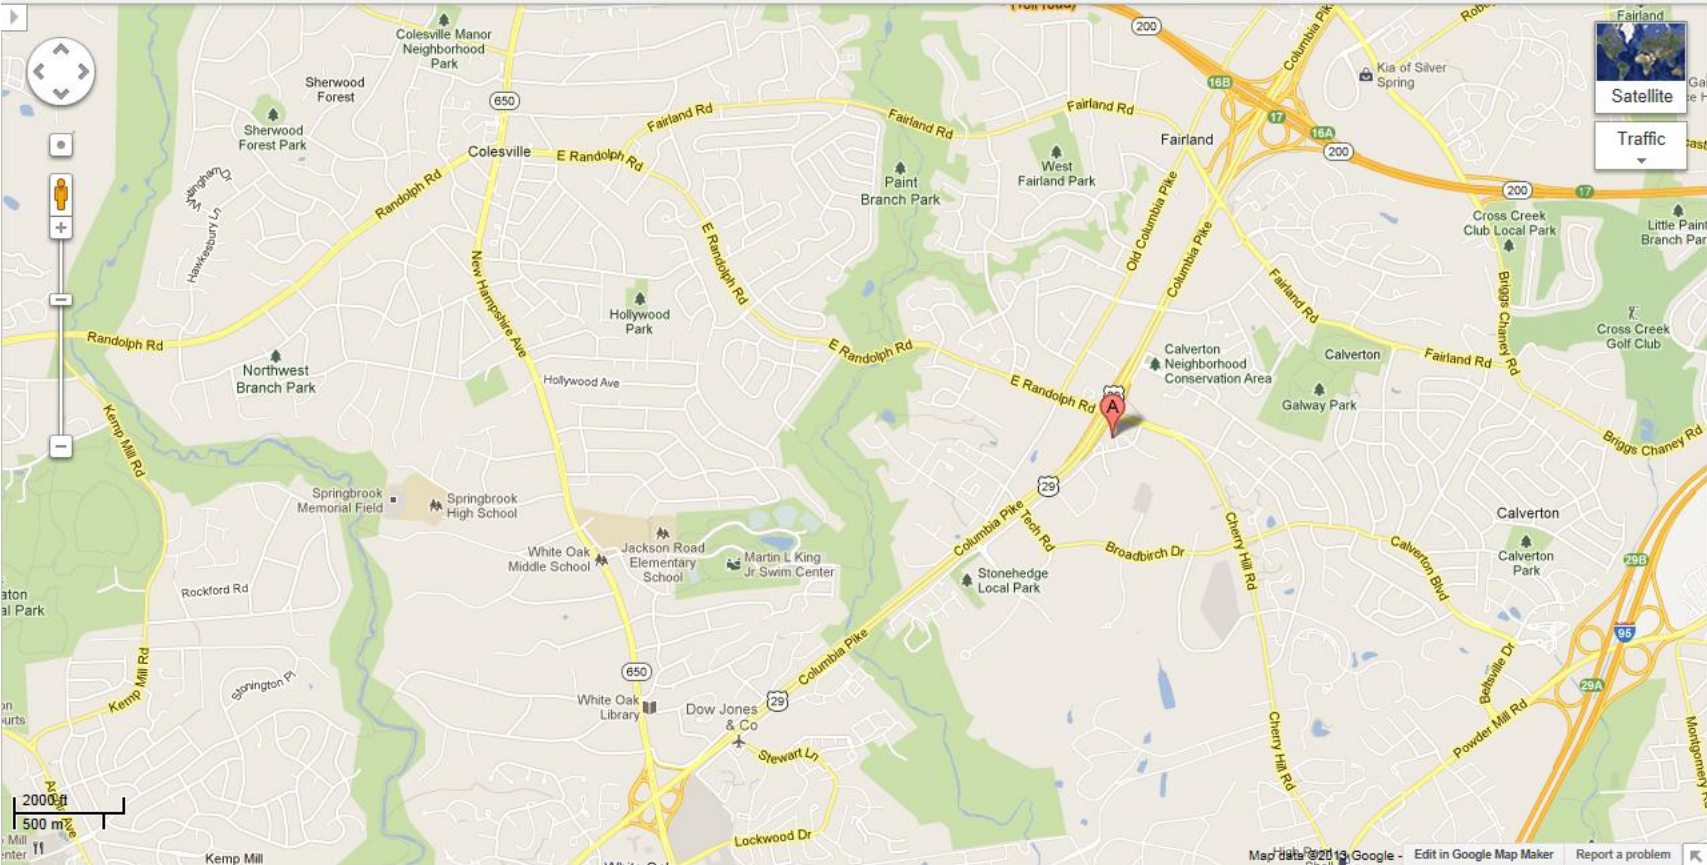

Google Maps provides high-resolution aerial or satellite images for most urban areas all over the world. Most of the world's current satellite imagery is over 5 years old and updated infrequently, resulting in not showing the newer features and updates that have been made to various infrastructures.
